FOUR CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH IN OHIO

TOTS TRAPPED WHEN FLAMES SWEEP SECOND FLOOR OF HOME

August Benson Fails in Rescue Attempt at Cleveland.

ESCAPE CUT OFF Victims are Dead When Firemen Reach Bedroom.

CLEVELAND, June 13.—
Their escape cut off by smoke and flames, four children, aged 3 to 14, were burned to death in a fire of undetermined origin which swept the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Benson, here early today, according to fire officials.

Battalion Chief is Hero.

The dead are: Ida, 3; Leonard, 4;
August, Jr., 12, and Ophelia 14.

Benson made a futile attempt to rescue his children when he discovered the blaze. He said clouds of smoke pouring from the upstairs room where the victims were sleeping drove him back.

The bodies of the four children were passed down the stairs to firemen by Battalion Chief William Finn after he fought his way through smoke into the second story of the burning dwelling. The victims were all dead when he found them lying in their beds.

Benson said he was awakened about 1 a. m. by stifled cries of his youngest child, Ida. Smoke was pouring down the stairway.

When firemen arrived, the house, a two-story frame structure, was almost a mass of flames.

CLERGYMEN of four religions will pray for the Republican brethren in Kansas City. An Episcopalian, a Catholic, a Jewish rabbi, and a Methodist preacher will ask heaven to help and enlighten. Nothing prevents Christian Scientists from giving the convention absent treatment. It may need it.

"OUR old cat and another one" applies to that army of farmers to march on Kansas City 100,000 strong,
to lay down the law about farm relief.
Only fourteen farmers had arrived
Monday, and they must hurry back to attend to crops.

THAT'S the disadvantage of isolated farming. Railroad men and great industrialists that gather at conventions or at Washington, never have to hurry back. They have hired men to run the works while they help run the government.

IN THIRD RACE

James C. B. Beatty.
For the third successive time, James C. B. Beatty will seek the Democratic nomination for governor at the primaries on Tuesday, August 14. His declaration was filed with Secretary of State Clarence Brown today.

BEATTY FILES AS "WET" ENTRY FOR GOVERNOR

Pottery Sales Manager Seeks Democratic Nomination.

TWICE DEFEATED

Advocates Return of
"Legalized Beer,
Sold in Clubs."

Repeal of the Eighteenth amendment and nullification of the Volstead act is advocated in the platform of James C. B. Beatty, pottery sales manager, who last night forwarded his declaration of candidacy for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination at the August 14 primaries to the secretary of state's office at Columbus. This is the third time within six years that Beatty has sought the governorship.

Beatty's platform urges repeal of the dry amendment "by referendum at the earliest possible moment, thereby avoiding its repeal by revolution" and refers to the Volstead act as "the most damnable of all human documents recorded since the beginning of human history." He advocates the return of "legalized good beer, to be sold in clubs only."

The gubernatorial aspirant also favors the repeal of the Pence law by which the Bell Telephone company has "unjustly collected from the people of Ohio untold millions of dollars in the last four years" and urges abolition of capital punishment.

"Give me a firing squad of 12 of the most intelligent and meanest men that I can find in Ohio to fire incor-petent and inefficient help that have no purpose whatever in working for the government except to see how little they can do and how much they can get for it" Beatty asks in urging the payroll of the state be reduced by approximately 50 per cent.

"Make me governor of Ohio and inside of six months I will raise the intellectual standard of the official forces 25 percent, reduce crime 50 percent and conduct the state at 50 percent less cost than the taxpayers are now paying," he says.

He also urges the nomination of Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, for president, and Governor A.
V. Donahoe, of Ohio, for vice-president. "These two men in those posi-

STATE SUPREME COURT REJECTS BENDER'S APPEAL IN DAMAGE SUIT

COLUMBUS, O., June 13.—Rejecting the appeal of State Senator George H. Bender, the Ohio supreme court today upheld the action of the Cuyahoga county courts which dismissed the suit for alleged damages which Bender filed against B. F. Mc-Donald, state prohibition director, as a result of the search of Bender's home in Euclid heights, a Cleveland suburb, on August 19, 1925, by dry agents.

The supreme court, also, overruled the appeals of William J. Patrick of Cleveland, a state dry agent, and John

CONVENTION HALL, Kansas City, June 13.—"It looks like Hoover and Dawes."

This was the word circulated about the floor of the Republican national convention this morning as the delegates assembled for the second session.

As to the first part of the ticket, there was no doubt whatsoever. As to the second it appeared up to General Dawes himself. His friends were advising him this morning both ways.

To one leader who got in touch with him at his home in Evanston and urged him not to accept second place, the general was non-committal. He said he wanted to see the platform first.

Urged To Stay Off Ticket.
There are undoubtedly enough votes in the convention to put the vice president across again if he gives the word. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon considers him a "logical candidate." He is acceptable to other powerful eastern leaders, and the corn belters are for him because of his espousal of the McNary-Haugen bill.

But a considerable number of the general's friends who are embittered over the Hoover victory are urging him to stay off the ticket and, as they put it, "let the Hoover people stew."

Kansas Refuses to Run.
Senator Curtis, of Kansas, was still refraining adamant at the hour of assembly this morning. To one of his supporters who urged him seriously to consider the vice presidency, the Kansas is reported to have replied he was a candidate for no other office than that of the presidency and would accept none other.

Meanwhile, the platform committee continued to wrestle with the knotty farm plank, and until they get together the delegates must more or less mark time.

Sensor Fess of Ohio, the convention keynoteer, called the convention to order today at 10:37 o'clock, but he had to almost break his gavel to obtain any order.

JUDGE LONES' LENGL CASE RULING UPHeld

Supreme Court Turns
Down Stark County Prosecutor.

ACQUITTAL ECHO

County Jurist Barred
Floyd Streitenberger
Testimony.

COLUMBUS, O., June 13.—The Ohio supreme court today rejected the application to permit the Stark county prosecuting attorney to file a bill of exceptions opposing the action of the Columbus county trial court which refused to permit introduction of testimony of Floyd E. Streitenber-ger, former Canton policeman, in the trial of former Police Chief Seraus
A. Lengel, charged with first degree murder in connection with the assassination of Don Mellett, Canton newspaper publisher.

Streitenberger, who is serving a life sentence in Ohio penitentiary following conviction of participating in the Mellett assassination, refused to testify at Lengel's trial in the Columbus county court. The prosecution then sought to introduce as evidence against Lengel testimony given by Streitenberger at a previous trial.
The trial judge refused to permit introduction of this evidence. After his second trial, Lengel was acquitted.

RAIN HITS WORK ON TROLLEY LINE

Wet weather is delaying the rebuilding of the Grandview street car line between the Riverview cemetery entrance and Thompson boulevard.

The city has completed the rough grading for the tracks, but rain has delayed the construction of drainage structures for about 10 days. Work was to be resumed today.

The traction company will lay track as fast as the drainage structures are built. With good weather prevailing the improvements should be completed within two weeks.

Since the work was started on May 21 cars have been operating as far as the Riverside cemetery entrance.

BLAME GYPSIES IN $152 THEFT

Police today were searching for a band of gypsies, one of whom is said to have stolen a pocketbook containing a $150 diamond ring and $2 in money from the Federal meat market, St. Clair avenue, yesterday afternoon.

The purse was the property of Mrs.
Alex Federhar, wife of the proprietor of the shop.
Patrolman Herman Roth investigated the case.

For an hour the committee had listened to labor planks and appeals for repeal of the 18th amendment from Nicholas Murray Butler and others. The wet cause was hopeless, and committee members, except Senator elect William Vare of Pennsylvania, who applauded vigorously, were tired for justice.

SWEEPING DRY ENFORCEMENT PLANK WILL GO IN PLATFORM

Republicans Pledge
Nominee to Uphold 18th Amendment.

BORAH VICTORY

Resolutions Committee
Acts at All-night
Meeting.

By KENNETH CLARKE
KANSAS CITY, June 13.—A plank calling for vigorous enforcement of the 18th amendment was incorporated in the 1928 Republican platform today by the resolution sub-committee following an all-night session.

The plank pledged the party's nominees to observance and enforcement of the amendment.

Not since constitutional prohibition has been in effect has such a sweeping dry program been adopted by either major party.

The plank was a victory for Senator Borah of Idaho, who has threatened to carry a fight before the convention and the country if the party straddled on prohibition this year. Its approval by the entire committee was anticipated.

The plank follows:
Law enforcement.
"We reaffirm the American constitutional doctrine as announced by George Washington in his farewell address, to wit:

"The constitution which at any time exists until changed by the explicit and authentic act by the whole people is sacredly obligatory upon all."

"We also reaffirm the attitude of the American people toward the federal constitution as declared by Abraham Lincoln:

"We are by both duty and inclination bound to stick by the constitution in all its letter and spirit from beginning to end. I am for the honest enforcement of the constitution. Our safety, our liberty depends upon preserving the constitution of the United States, as our forefathers made it inviolable."

"The people through the method provided by the constitution have written the 18th Amendment into the constitution. The Republican party pledges itself and its nominees to the observance and vigorous enforcement of the provision of the constitution."

Two Dissenting Voices.
Senator Borah reported there were only two dissenting voices on the plank.
With the adoption of the prohibi-

VOICE OF FARMERS SHOUTS: "WE DON'T CHOOSE TO VOTE FOR HOOVER"

BY KENNETH CLARK.
KANSAS CITY, June 13.—There is always the big voice.

At a baseball game the voice usually comes booming out of the bleachers protesting the umpire's decision at home plate 490 feet away.

At this convention the voice was concocted in the farmers' delegation, 250 strong, which filed into the hearing room and by force of numbers sought to impress the resolution committee with the need of a McNary-Haugen plank in the national platform.

Establishment of a 28-man fire de-many recommendations, offered by the investigators, which have been complied with. The ladder truck and pumper at the Central station have also been placed in service since the new men were added to the department.

Insurance men assert that no steps have been taken to make an emer-automatic regulating valve to allow the high service line to maintain pressures when the normal low service reservoir drops to 20 pounds.

SENATOR RAPS DEMOCRATS AS HE TAKES OVER G. O. P. GAVEL

Defiant Challenge Marks
Second Session at Kansas City.

SCORES TAMMANY

Attacks Dampness of
New York Governor;
Hits Graft.

By George R. Holmes.

CONVENTION HALL, KAN-SAS CITY, June 13.—A ringing and defiant challenge to the Democrats to "bring on Smith and we will bury him," marked the second session of the Republican national convention today, while beyond the confines of the flag-draped hall the sullen farmers and anti-Hooverites growled and grumbled and predicted dire things for November.

Speech Goes Over Big

The direct challenge to Smith and Democrats was sent reverberating through the vast auditorium by Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, in his speech accepting the permanent chairmanship of the convention. It was an entertaining departure from the usual cut and dried prepared speeches of convention chairman and it went over big.

Senator Moses, one of the original Hoover men, boldly took cognizance of the "defeatist" talk assiduously spread by the rebellious corn belt spokesmen and the anti-Hoover leaders.

"We enter this campaign," he declared, "in no posture of defeatism. We come upon the field aggressively milittant. We intend to carry this fight to the enemy. And we challenge them to bring forth their strongest champion."

It was a militant, fighting speech, and calculated to stir a morale
among those Republicans whose confidence regarding November has been shaken by the bitterness and bickering that has marked the fight between the Hoover people and the coalition for many weeks.

Hoover Against Smith.
"Whether he emerge from another spectacle like the one-hundred-and-three round battle of Madison Square Garden, or whether he comes from an over-powered convention, held spellbound by the glare of the Tammany tiger, we are ready for him. Bring him on and we will bury him. We welcome him with hospitable hands to a bloody grave."

"And we care not whether his name be Brown, Jones, Robinson or Smith."

In every line of Senator Moses' speech it was indicated that the Republican leadership lay now on the ground in Kansas City awaiting the oncoming campaign as "Hoover" against Smith, and is preparing for it.

And the convention chairman provided a peek into the future by savagely attacking Tammany Hall by name, the dampness of Smith, the Democratic disfranchisement of the Negro in the south, and Democratic fiscal policies. Graft charges, too, were thrown in.

COOPER WEARS HOOVER BADGE

Ohio Will Cast 31 Votes for Secretary.

KANSAS CITY, June 13.—Representative John Cooper, of Ohio, the chairman and the only member of the Ohio congressional delegation to remain neutral during the Willis Hoover fight, has joined Hoover forces. He donned the Hoover badge and is active at headquarters.

Hoover will get 31 Ohio votes on the first ballot, with Coolidge 5, Curtis 3, Hughes 2, and Lowden 10, a caucus canvass disclosed.

Representative Theodore Burton was named chairman of the delegation but election of members of the national committee was deferred until after the convention nominations.

The old folks do enjoy hearing from you

THE sound of your voice is the nearest thing to an actual visit home. For it's really YOU. It makes the folks at home feel that you are close to them and you in turn feel that you are retaining the associations of younger days.

Out-of-town telephone service enables you to "visit" the old folks often at very little cost and no effort. The service today is greatly simplified. You can give "Long Distance" the number wanted, and in most cases hold the line while the operator makes the connection—often in less than a minute. If you don't know the number, call the Information operator and she gladly will obtain it for you.

The cost of out-of-town telephone service is surprisingly low, as the rates on a few typical calls will show. For instance, calling by number during the day from Columbus to Dayton costs only $.55; Columbus to Cleveland, $.85; Columbus to Indianapolis, $1.05; Springfield to Detroit, $1.05; Zanesville to Pittsburgh, $.75; Steubenville to Columbus, $.85; Columbus to New York, $2.30; Dayton to Chicago, $1.35.

CURTIS STANDS OUT IN SECOND PLACE FIGHT

Kansas Senator, However, Will Decline Friends Say.

DAWES SUGGESTED

Senator Walter F. Edge, New Jersey, Mentioned.

By William K. Hutchinson.
KANSAS CITY, June 12.—With the selection of Herbert Hoover as the Republican party's presidential nominee a certainty, a wild scramble got under way today for the vice presidential nomination.

One man stood out from the crowd, Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas, but it was stated on his behalf he would not accept second place on the Republican ticket after going down to defeat in his drive for the presidential nomination.

His strength came from the desire of eastern Republican leaders, particularly in the New York delegation, to name a mid-western man, friendly to the farmers, as Hoover's running mate.

With Curtis eliminated, Vice President Charles Dawes and Senator Walter F. Edge, of New Jersey, were considered to occupy strategic posts in the race for the vice presidential nomination. Dawes was said to be willing to run with Hoover and to have the tentative endorsement of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon. He was opposed, however, by a large number of Hoover leaders and there was little sentiment for him in the allied camps, because of his apathy during the recent campaign.

Edge appeared to be in the most favorable spot. He had the solid backing of the New Jersey delegation, the active endorsement of numerous Hoover leaders and the tentative approval of Senator-elect William S. Vare of Philadelphia, who was instrumental in forcing the nomination of Hoover.

The "big three" delegations, New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois, were badly split over the vice presidential nomination. The New Yorkers had four candidates of their own—Theodore Roosevelt, Ambassador Alanson B. Houghton, Ogden Mills and Hamilton Fish—while the leaders were reported friendly to Curtis, Dawes and Edge. The Pennsylvanians favored Dawes, Edge and Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire. The Illinois delegation contained votes for

"SHOW'S ALL OVER; WHEN DO WE GO TO HOUSTON?" ASKS GIRL REPORTER

By Ruth Ridenour.
KANSAS CITY, June 13.—What a day! Awake at 6 o'clock to nominate a president. Everybody happy or depressed over this early morning news that there would be no battle. Hoover had over 700 votes and all anybody needed was 545. That was great.
"Show's all over."
"Well, when do we go to Houston?"
"Gosh. This is going to be a bore. Nothing but routine."
And similar sentiments.
My first convention. I thought it was exciting but no one except me seemed to see it that way. Right hand neighbor had been "covering" conventions for 16 years. He went out to smoke. I stuck around.
Chairman Butler hit the desk with a sawed-off croquet mallet. Nobody paid much attention and he hit it again. Meeting was called to what Chairman Butler could red satisfactory order. We all prayed. Schumann-Heink sang our patriotic ditty—very pretty, it rubbed the old heart strings—and then Chairman Butler told us all to stand up and have our pictures taken.

We obeyed, to a man, from the top-most gallery to the bottom of the pit where the delegates were parked, everybody stood up and looked at the cameras.

Curtis, of course, will be vice president that's the gossip of Alice Longworth—one of the few significant women in a party clogged with busy ladies).

Curtis, Edge or Moses, while Senator Charles S. Deneen had a small following.

In all, there were fourteen candidates, aside from Curtis, mentioned for the post. Many of them may never be placed in nomination but all had their friends in the convention crowds.

Reports in Hotel Lobbies.
A summary of reports, heard about the hotels and headquarters, was as follows:

Curtis: Widely urged but reported certain to refuse to become a candidate.

Dawes: Favored by Mellon but opposed by Hoover managers with little if any support among the allies.

Edge: Occupies strategic position, because of a belief that he can carry New Jersey and help to carry New York.

Deneen: A real "dark horse" candidate because of the desire of some eastern leaders to name a mid-westerner, friendly to the farmers.

Moses: Generally acceptable but hurt by his geographical location.

Roosevelt: Often discussed but without material support.

Mills: Discussed but with no chance of nomination.

Houghton: Mentioned frequently. Helped by reports he can carry German vote.

Fish: Mentioned by New York friends but accorded little chance.

Senator Arthur Capper: Mentioned as compromise candidate to soothe the agriculturists.

Henry Allen of Kansas: Mentioned in some discussions as a possible compromise candidate, acceptable to agrarian mid-west.

Representative John Q. Tilson: Acceptable to Hoover leaders but weakened by geographical location.

General Clarence R. Edwards: Endorsed by Massachusetts as a soldier candidate with good overseas record. A possible "dark horse."

Col. Henry W. Anderson: Endorsed by Virginia but accorded no chance.

Col. Hanford MacNider: Soldier candidate, endorsed by Iowa, but without strength elsewhere.

The New York and Pennsylvania delegations were to caucus late today to decide which candidate to support.

Lower Fire Insurance Rates

East Liverpool property owners who have paid increased fire insurance rates, which become effective upon the expiration of old policies by reason of the action last September of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, will applaud the action of the Chamber of Commerce in taking steps looking toward a reduction in premiums.

A sub-committee of the chamber met yesterday afternoon to discuss a revision of rates which soared before the Ceramic City, complying with a recommendation of the underwriters, authorized a one-mill tax levy to permit an increase in the number of fire fighters, attention to which is directed by a "Home Owners' Letter" in another column of the Review.

It had been the expectation of property owners who supported the tax proposal, that their approval of the extra levy would thwart additional boosts in rates. And in a sense, the levy served as a deterrent, but only to the extent of a second increase which had been threatened. And, of course, since the penalty cannot be added to policies in force, it is noticeable now because of expirations. New business, as the insurance agents term it, is written under the new scale of premiums.

However, relief is, and should be, in sight. The underwriters, in their survey in 1927, pointed out hazards in East Liverpool which are responsible for high rates. And they urged not only doubling the strength of the fire department, which now numbers 28 men, but also legislation providing for building and electrical codes and restrictions on the manufacture and sale of explosives and inflammables and certain changes in the water pressure and size of mains.

And it was for the purpose of considering ways and means of heeding the admonitions of the underwriters that the Chamber of Commerce committee met yesterday. It is expected that the attention of the city council will be directed to the fact that something must be done.

Nearly a year has elapsed since the increased rates became effective, and if any municipal action is necessary to bring about a revision of the insurance costs there should be no delay on the part of the proper authorities.

Polar Flyers Alive

All the world rejoices in the definite announcement by the commander of the base ship, Citta di Milano, that General Umberto Nobile and his adventurous companions are alive, that communication with the Italia has been established and that the Citta di Milano and the crew of the Polar balloon have exchanged long messages, the chief purpose of which was to make available all the information possible to simplify the work of rescue.

So long as the position of Nobile and his companions was unknown, the problem of locating them partook somewhat of the nature of the proverbial hunt for the needle in the haystack, but since it is definitely known that the big dirigible was stranded and wrecked during a heavy storm in longitude 80.50 and latitude 27, which would place her at a point about 200 miles north of King's bay, the chances for rescue are almost immeasurably multiplied.

That the Italia is a hopeless wreck is a matter for regret, for it makes completion of the planned flight impossible, but the fate of the airship is as less than nothing compared with the fate of her crew. If the members of the crew are able to withstand the excessive cold and possible hunger until rescue reaches them and they are brought back to safety, such matters as blows to pride of achievement are not to be considered. The thought of the world today is directed to the safety of the air voyagers. The Italia and what might have been may well be speedily forgotten.

Presidential Angle-worms

The subject of presidential angle-worms, raised at most immediately after President Coolidge began to pull trout out of the streams of the Black Hills, during vacation last summer, instead of diminishing in importance, seems to grow.

No sooner had the French-Canadian guide who will pilot Mr. Coolidge to the trout streams in and about Brule, Wis., this summer, heard that the president fishes with worms, instead of flies, than he threw up his hands in horrified amazement.

And through the medium of newspaper men who already are scouting the far reaches of the Wisconsin wilderness in advance of the presidential party, it was announced that this French-Canadian will not only teach Mr. Coolidge to fish with flies, this summer—but with dry flies, at that!

However, it is a long worm which has no turning, according to the ancient Persian proverb.

It will be recalled that last summer sportsmen took sides on the question of Mr. Coolidge fishing with angle-worms. It even was said Mr. Coolidge was unsportsmanlike in fishing with worms, and he was advised to use a barbless hook, too.

On the question of the barbless hook there is much to be said. Everyone will agree that things should be arranged so a fish may be thrown back into the stream without serious injury to its mouth, if the fish is too small for use.

But the warm angle is something else again. One wonders if some of the gentlemen take the stand that the only object in fishing is the sport of fishing. And on the other hand, do fishermen fish on the theory that causing of needless pain and death to little fishes is commendable just to afford a thrill?

The thing which always has appealed as the strongest justification for fishing, is the food value of the fish, if any, which may be caught. That was the primitive excuse for fishing, and it still obtains.

Bad weather is no respecter of persons or humanitarian movements, for it postpones Playground Tag days, as well as ocean air flights and boxing shows and baseball games.

A queen will become an ace if Mabel Boll, given the "Diamond" cognomen, succeeds in her attempted transatlantic hop.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.—It is claimed that Washington is the hub of education in spite of the fact that other cities such as Chicago and New York boast more and wealthier schools.

Judging a city to be the educational center of the United States is about as difficult as calling one young miss the most beautiful girl in the country. There are so many factors to be taken in consideration in doing the judging and then there are so many varieties of taste and opinion. Blonde versus brunette, the bevyish or the feminine long curls type, number of school buildings, quality of equipment and teachers, all these must be scored by the judges in the respective contests. When they have reached their conclusions just as many people will disagree as agree with them.

The nation's capital has many arguments on which to base the claim of educational importance. The fact that about one-fifth of the city's population is enrolled in schools, and the possession of that intangible something called atmosphere, and in this case an atmosphere conducive to study, are two points.

It is apparent that Washington must afford unusual facilities and opportunities for education advancement when statistics are quoted. It is estimated at the present time that there are more than half a million residents in the District of Columbia and that more than 100,000 are on one school roster or another. Some 70,000 are enrolled in the public schools, and approximately 30,000 in the private academies, schools, and universities.

The public schools are housed in 104 buildings, with more always in process of construction, and these privately controlled occupy 249.

The first named rank near the top of a nationwide crediting list, receiving recognition on various points, among them being the quality of teachers, the length of school term, the funds expended, and the standards for the pupils. Private schools in the District have been well known for years, for in the days when most girls went to finishing schools Washington was a popular place to go for the process. Although many now consider this type of school a step on the way to college, they are well attended because of their preparatory courses.

There are fifteen private academies or high schools in the city with an enrollment of 100 or more boys or girls or both. Eight of these are non-sectarian, while seven are denominational. In their last reports to the United States Bureau of Education they showed an enrollment of nearly 3000, or an average of almost 200 each. There are numerous other schools of recognized standing, which are not shown in the Bureau's statistics, because they are too small. Private elementary schools are among those listed.

There are between 500 and a 1000 students in the normal schools of the District of Columbia who are studying to become teachers.

Washington boasts twelve privately controlled universities, colleges, and professional schools, and one publicly controlled college. Included in this number are both sectarian and non-sectarian institutions, graduate and professional schools, a university for negroes, and a college for the deaf.

In addition there are numerous business colleges and schools which attract thousands of students.

Art schools and schools of expression swell the ranks of students in Washington. Under the broad term of expression are classed various kinds, including public speaking, grace and motion taught by physical education, and music.

Authorities who know their school books aver that the city of Washington itself is an inspiration to education. The lack of the hustle and bustle of a commercial city, the kinds of work carried on by the government, and the way in which it functions, all encourage study.

The Congressional library is a mecca for students as are the surgeon general's library, conceded even by the Germans to be the greatest medical library in the world, the libraries of the department of agriculture, the patent office, and those of other government divisions. By act of congress these libraries are made available for study and research by students.

Many of the organizations concerned in educational work have made this city their headquarters. The Parent-Teachers association, International Kindergarten association, American Council of Education, American Association of University Women, and the National Education Association are among them. They like being near Congress and the Bureau of Education. In turn they add to the prestige of the city as a place for those interested in education as a problem and as a practice. The great jump in school enrollment in the past ten years is indicative of the fact that more and more people are becoming aware of and wish to take advantage of the education advantages of Washington.

Questions and Answers

By Frederic J. Haskin

Q. Is the condition of the poor in Ireland improving? S. P. S.

A. Conditions in Ireland are being much improved for the poor classes. The passage of the Irish Free State Purchase Bill continued that process of land distribution which has been in progress since 1870. Between that year and the present about 400,000 tenants have become owners of their holdings. About 70,000 tenancies remain, and these will be converted into proprietorships by the new measure. In addition, the condition of members of the agricultural tenant class now in possession of unproductive holdings will be improved.

Q. Is it true that athletes die young? L. E. T.

A. Dr. J. H. McCurdy, in Physiology of Exercise, gives the following statement with detailed statistics to support it: "There is no evidence to show that athletes die young."

Q. What is the origin of the baccalaureate sermon? G. M. W.

A. The baccalaureate sermon originated about the time the Sumptuary laws were passed in Massachusetts in 1722. These laws were the result of too much revelry at commencements and "prohibited commensals from providing either plumb cake, roasted or baked meats, pies of any kind, also distiller liquors." The first public commencement at Yale in 1718 does not mention a baccalaureate sermon. About this time, however, ethical addresses began to be given by college presidents or college pastors at both Harvard and Yale. It is thought that the baccalaureate sermon of today is an outgrowth of that custom.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, June 13.—Every evening at dusk a small army of gray haired motherly women move toward the Rialto and pass through the stage entrances of theatres to their tasks. They are wardrobe mistresses—often dull echoes of a glamorous past.

It is their job to take care of costumes and keep them in repair. But they function in a larger way. Their lives have usually been entirely cast in the theatre, chiefly in small character parts, although some have taken important roles and a few have seen their names in lights.

They are frequently mother confessor to chorus girls, and some have been adopted as stage mothers, sharing apartments with their charges. They are stumbling blocks in the path of the trash stage door John. Of all people backstage, they are the best beloved.

Most of them are devoutly religious and have a tender sympathy for birdlings so often trapped in the Broadway pitfalls. Secrets have been confided to them that would rock the great pages, but they maintain a tight-lipped silence.

They have read the mesh notes of prominent islanders straying from the family fireside to wander along the White Way. They are equally wise to the fact that the cute little blonde who last week accepted the cabriolet from the rich boulevardier will next week elope with the trap drummer.

Despite humble posts in the theatrical background, they often display a keen and extremely valuable stage sense. One has for years sat in the producer's house with the producer who employs her to offer suggestions during the final rehearsals. And her ideas are invariably adopted.

When a company leaves New York to go trouping, the wardrobe mistress often becomes the official chaperone for younger girls. They consult her, and as a rule, accept her advice. And in this way the wardrobe mistress has kept many straying lambskins out of dangerous paths.

Restaurants and hotel dining rooms have computed there are 500,000 people in New York.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

What are we to do for the effects of arthritis? What are we to do to overcome the deformities and the stiffness of the joints and the annoyance resulting from the disease?

I am not impressed with the various forms of massage and manipulation applied in some instances. While massage may be useful, there is no doubt that if severe manipulation is used, especially by an untrained person, great harm may result. In the acute stage, particularly, such treatment is dangerous.

On the other hand, after the acute symptoms have disappeared it is important to exercise and move the joints. They must not be permitted to remain motionless. If they are allowed to become fixed, the joints will become permanently stiffened and bent into uncomfortable positions.

Of course, it is difficult to overcome the psychology of these cases. The victim is afraid to move his joints. He is afraid it is going to hurt. You must exercise a lot of will power and persistence to overcome this desire to keep the part fixed. However, unless there is this movement and exercise there is sure to be deformity and permanent impairment of the joint.

One of the most important things to do is to encourage the victim of arthritis, after the acute symptoms have subsided, to exercise his joints and use all use of them he possibly can. This is essential.

The application of heat, the use of baths with massage are very useful. If the victim has wrong eating habits they must be corrected. I took pains to ascertain what the great specialists of the country are doing in the control of the bad effects of arthritis. It is interesting to find that in their clinics the vaccine treatment is used.

You may think it funny, but it appears to make no particular difference what vaccine is used, so long as it is one capable of creating some reaction. The typhoid vaccine is a favorite one. Almost any of the so called foreign proteins or other foreign substances like mercurochrome, silver compounds and milk preparations seem to produce reactions which excite the defensive mechanisms of the body. The injections are given every five or six days for a month or two. If they result in relief they are continued. Otherwise they are dropped. I simply speak of these matters in order that you may talk them over with your doctor, but it is important to know that there is some prospect of relieving these cases of obstinate arthritis. In the cure we depend upon heat, massage, education in the necessity of movement, the vaccine treatment I have mentioned, and such remedies as your doctor may consider desirable.

Once Overs

By J. J. Mundy.

YOU ARE ABOUT THE AVERAGE RUN.

It's rather shocking to you sometimes to have a writer seem to look into your secret life and take therefrom things that you thought none knew.

Instinctively that writer rouses in you a feeling of either fear or antagonism.

You wonder why editors print some of the things that you can see apply to you, for you feel that few persons would be interested in them.

It is easy to apply to yourself certain accusations which you know exist in truth, but you don't want others to think these things about you.

Don't be sensitive. If you have peculiar faults, others have the same.

There is not much difference in the run of humanity. Unless you are unusual, there are many as bad, many much worse, and few who are much better at heart than you are.

The trouble is, you think of yourself as a little better than the average. Very likely you are not so much better and that is what hurts.

Perhaps you don't mind being what you should not be, but you don't want others to know it. Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

"That's the loveliest thing you've ever worn"

"When the handsomest man in the office asked me to go to the Annual Picnic with him, I was so thrilled that I bought a new dress in honor of the occasion—a lovely white zephyr-weight sweater frock flecked with metal thread—then foolishly wore it two days before the picnic, and spilled strawberries down the front!

"Though I didn't believe the material was really washable, I decided to wash it in Lux. And the results were truly marvelous! The dress came out like new.

"At the picnic, 'he' said it was the loveliest thing I had ever worn. And said, too, that he thought I was the best-dressed girl in the office!

"As I do not spend as much on clothes as many of the girls, I must give the credit to Lux for keeping even my everyday office things fresh, unfaded, new-looking more than twice as long."—Marie Long, 1629 Everett Ave., Louisville, Ky.

[Every musical show in New York uses Lux to keep stockings and costumes new-looking twice as long!]

"How do you keep them so fluffy and new-looking?"

"I wash all my good table linens, my bedspreads and blankets with Lux, just as I do my stockings and underthings.

"Recently, a friend happened to drop in just as I was putting my blankets away after their spring washing. She asked if the pink ones I had in my arms could possibly be the same ones I got five years ago.

"My blankets are only two years old," she said, "and they are matted and shrunken. How do you keep yours so soft and fluffy?"

"When I told her I washed mine with Lux she said, 'That explains it—I thought any soap would do for such heavy things as blankets.' Now she, too, has beautiful blankets, thanks to Lux."—Victoria Wallace, 2920 Avenue E., Ft. Worth, Texas.

ALL YEAR ROUND COMFORT

cooler summers - warmer winters
FOR ANY SIZE HOME

NOW the Holland Vaporaire Deluxe for fine homes offers all advantages of large heating-cooling systems used in modern theaters, hospitals and schools. A simple, compact plant of reasonable price and low operating cost constantly circulates clean, filtered air—warm or cool, depending on the season—through every room, changing the atmosphere of the whole house many times an hour. Heating response is immediate. The electric Super-Sirculator forces warmth in measured volumes to every part of the home and eliminates forced firing even in severe weather. Thermostatically controlled temperature need never vary more than two degrees. The saving in fuel helps pay for the system. Two firings daily—three minutes morning and night—is all of the attention required.

Proper humidity, maintained automatically, eliminates the chief cause of colds. Air is kept on the march. It teems with life and energy. Floors are warm and draft-free all winter. Summer heat holds no terror. Filtered air is forced by the Super-Sirculator to all parts of the house. The cooling effect is equivalent to an electric fan in every room. The system, built to last a lifetime, may be installed in any size home, new or old. It is tried, proved and guaranteed by written bond. Every installation is made under factory supervision to meet the individual needs of the home it serves. Purchase may be made by deferred payments. Before you buy a new heating plant or repair your present one—get the facts about Holland Vaporaire Deluxe. Use the attached coupon or phone our nearest branch.

HOOVER FORCES CLIMB INTO SADDLE AT KANSAS CITY

READY TO RIDE DOWN FOES IN G. O. P. SESSION

Plan to Do It as Softly as Possible.

GRUMBLING HEARD

Their Wishes Will Prevail on Two Remaining Tasks.

By George R. Holmes.

KANSAS CITY, June 13.—Booted and spurred, the Hoover forces climbed into the saddle in the Republican national convention today and prepared to ride down all opposition.

They went to do it as softly as possible for there are enough ruffled Republican feelings already without incurring more.

There is the raucous grumbling of the disappointed farm element, and the admitted lukewarmness of some powerful eastern leaders to be met, but with the nomination prize sewed up, the Hoover captains were everywhere in command.

Their wishes probably will prevail. In the only two important tasks that remain in this convention, the adoption of the platform and the selection of a running mate.

Vice-presidential Candidate.

Suit of Martin Hepps, grocery salesman, against his three brothers, J. M. Hepps, A. E. Hepps and Frank Hepps, doing business as the Hepps & Company, wholesale grocers for a $625 judgment alleged to be due him for wages, was placed on trial before a jury of 12 persons in municipal court at 10 o'clock this morning.

The plaintiff claims there is due him $500 which was deducted from his salary in 1927 and $125 which was retained to April 8, 1928, when he left the employment of the company. Attorney Frank Hoover represents the plaintiff while Cochran & Crawford are counsel for the defendants.

tion platform, only the controversial farm relief plank remained before the sub-committee. On that question the 16 members were split. When it was found that no progress was being made on a compromise, the committee recessed at 4 o'clock until 10. Little trouble was experienced in accepting the other planks in the platform.

Announcement of the approval of the prohibition plank was made by Borah shortly after 3 o'clock this morning as he emerged from the committee room.

Bitter words were exchanged before Borah finally succeeded in obtaining a majority for his plank. Senator-elect William S. Vare of Pennsylvania, who proposed repeal of the 18th amendment, led the fight for the veto.

Complete Platform at 4 p. m.

A meeting of the entire committee was called for 2 o'clock this afternoon when it is expected the platform will be completed.

The 16 members of the resolutions sub-committee were:

Senator Smoot of Utah, chairman; Senator Borah of Idaho, Senator Bingham of Connecticut, C. C. Tamm of California, Henry W. Anderson of Virginia, W. W. Barbour of New Jersey, Earl C. Smith of Illinois, Alanson B. Houghton of New York, A. M. Hyde of Missouri, H. H. Clements of Tennessee, William Allen White of Kansas, Sen. J. O. Schaaf of Iowa, Senator McCall of Rhode Island, Senator Odell of Nevada, and J. J. Sullivan of Washington.

Sullivan was elected after he had charged "nobody was on the committee to watch out for the veterans' interests."

Expect Fight on Floor.

J. S. Green said the committee of 16 was unfavorable to the farmers. The committee was selected by Senator Smoot of Utah, chairman, and included four of his senatorial colleagues.

"It's hand-picked," said Green. "It's a job lot. It is controlled by New Englanders and Easterners. It's packed against the agricultural south and west."

Two other fights will be carried from the committee to the floor.

Senator LaFollette, the Wisconsin progressive leader, plans to submit to the 1,689 delegates a minority platform. He will be supported by the militant farm representatives.

The fight over farm relief broke over the demands of the Illinois and Iowa farmers for a plank endorsing the principles of the McNary-Haugen bill, endorsed by all the presidential candidates save Herbert Hoover. Hoover's forces favored a promise of tariff relief to farmers, and an extension of federal aid to assist cooperative marketing. The committee twice tried to break the deadlock but did not succeed.

A corruption plank sponsored by Borah pledged the party to give full publicity to campaign receipts and expenditures. It was designed to cover the election scandals of past years.

The foreign relations plank declared that American marines were in Nicaragua solely to protect American lives and property and to supervise neutral fall elections there. The principle of outlawing war by treaty was endorsed.

Another plank urged development of inland waterways.

NO "COOLIDGE LETTER" NEEDED

KANSAS CITY, June 13.—The elimination of President Coolidge in the Republican national convention here was accomplished without the aid of any Coolidge message or "Coolidge letter," it was learned today.

A few days before the convention opened, a story was broadcast that Coolidge had written a letter to be read to the convention when and if his name was presented.

The story was denied at the time.

G. Dawes and Senator Charles Curtis, and every hotel in Kansas City harbored others.

The farmers are insisting that an agriculturalist be named; the war veterans are lobbying for an ex-soldier; eastern interests are insisting that somebody be selected whose name and personality would be calculated to offset some of Al Smith's admitted popularity along the upper Atlantic seaboard. As for favorite sons, they bloomed in nearly every delegation.

Senator Curtis remains in his room, conferring with his friends, and is said to have declared with some heat that he would not leave it.

Dawes Possibility Beclouded.

The Dawes possibility also was beclouded with considerable conflicting advice among the general's supporters. Dawes would be satisfactory to many of the easterners, and his work for the McNary-Haugen bill endeared him to many of the middle-westerners. On the other hand, there are many of the vice president's friends in Kansas City advising against his acceptance of it on the ground of prestige.

These points out that General Dawes is in the position of having had his subordinate in public life, a cabinet officer, promoted over his head while his party in effect, has denied him promotion here at Kansas City.

Allied Lines Hold.

There have been no withdrawals as yet among the bitterly disappointed allies, nor will there be, their vehement spokesmen asserted today.

Generally, the allied lines have held fast against the lumbering Hoover bandwagon. The accretions to the Hoover standard have been mainly the "draft Coolidge" delegates, of which there were approximately nearly 200 in the convention when this fight opened.

The Lowden delegates, which constitute the most numerous opposition block to Hoover in the convention, insisted today they were going down the line for the farmers' candidate, Senator Curtis.

Senator Curtis' 26 loyal Kansans insisted today they were going to vote for him whether or no, and the 32 anti-Hoover delegates from Indiana remained clustered under the banners that proclaimed "Watson for president."

EX-MARINE WINS MARATHON DANCE

CHICAGO, June 13.—Robert Johns, ex-marine, and his partner, Miss Serna Bergandi, today won the national endurance dance contest after the second last couple collapsed on the floor.

The famous freak contest came to a dramatic end at 7:45 a. m. after continuing day and night for 260 hours—twelve days. Johns and Miss Bergandi will divide the grand prize of $3,500.

The runners-up, winners of the $1,000 second prize, were Walter Grafsky, Pyle bullionier of St. Paul, Minn., and Marcella Meadows of Chicago.

Miss Meadows collapsed in a heap just 30 seconds before the last rest period.

Push Search for Bandits

CINCINNATI, O., June 13.—Search for two bandits who held up the M. Mayer and brothers jewelry company store here yesterday and escaped with loot valued at between $20,000 and $30,000, after trying up Frank B. Mueller, clerk, is being pushed here today.

HAMBURG MAN BIGGEST SHOW, SAYS KREBS

Little 2x4 Shop Wins More Delegates Than Convention.

DREAMS MOVIES

No Post-Midnight Conferences; Nothing to Confer About.

By ROLAND KREBS.

KANSAS CITY, June 13.—On Twelfth street is a little 2x4 hamburger sandwich shop. In the window is an uninteresting sort of a cuss doing stupid things with dull onions and cutting colorful capers with impossible hamburgers. He fumbles about for a minute or so and then, with no great talent or originality to speak of, finishes what a charitable world calls a hamburger sandwich.

Until today that fellow was to his wife and everybody else just another cheap making sandwiches. Now he's a big man. He probably wonders whether or not he'd screen well and dreams of going into pictures. He's one of the biggest shows in Kansas City. And he knows that one of the biggest shows in Kansas City is the Republican national convention.

If you don't believe, count the number of pop-eyed, interested and amazed delegates flocked about his window, watching every move he makes—and then watch them yawn and try to stay awake in convention hall.

Trial to Delegates.

The convention, stumbling along rapidly, is a trial to its delegates, waiting patiently to send Hoover in and go home. The whole thing is so dull to them that they find the anaesthetic antics of the hamburger impresario as hair raising and exhilarating a spectacle as the circus. Of Nero were to the Romans, who weren't civilized enough to have conventions. There are none of those post-midnight conferences that made past conventions in Chicago famous. What is there to confer about? When a delegate awakes here after a good night's sleep of eight or ten hours, it's a toss up with him whether to sit about his hotel lobby and doze or stroll down Twelfth street to see the hamburger sandwich man starting act III which is the same as acts I and II.

Wait Stove Salesmen's Session.

They say this convention can't be stamped any more. Maybe not, but a first class growly, rough and tumble dog fight outside convention hall probably could start a stampede of delegates anxious for excitement that would empty the auditorium.

Convention visitors sigh and wish home-obliging steeples would climb a smoke stack in the downtown and give them something new to gaze at, but none of the chimneys appear to need touching up, much less a whole coat of paint.

Well, next week the distributors of the estate stove company are holding a convention here. Kansas City breathes more quickly when it remembers and has fresh hope. Maybe these stove guys will warm up and raise some excitement.

tions would honor the home, protect all religious rights, create commercial confidence and establish international peace, he asserts.

Seven Sign Declaration.

Beatty's declaration was signed by Morris Altman, Paul J. Potts, C. W. Hofferman, Hugh W. Thorn, Lola L. Hill, Evan G. Sharp and Martha McKeever.

He announced today that he would launch his campaign at an open air meeting to be held in East Liverpool in the "near future."

Four years ago Beatty was runner-up in the contest for the Democratic nomination for governor, while in 1925 he finished third in a field of four candidates.

COLUMBUS, O., June 13.—Attorney General Edward C. Turner today filed his official declaration, at the secretary of state's office, as a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

Those signing Turner's declaration include: Dr. George W. Rightmire, president of Ohio State university; Dr. W. O. Thompson, Columbus, president emeritus of Ohio State university; Walter A. Jones, Columbus, president of the board of trustees, Ohio Wesleyan university; U. S. District Judge Benson W. Hough, Columbus; Former U. S. District Judge J. E. Sater, Columbus; R. H. Schryver, Theodore S. Huntington and E. L. Stein, prominent Columbus bankers; Edward Orton, Jr., and J. H. Frantz, Columbus manufacturers; Fred Lazarus, Jr., merchant, Richard R. Reynolds, Columbus, carpenter, and Mrs. Nan A. Turner, the attorney general's wife.

Locke's Name Entered.

COLUMBUS, O., June 13.—U. S. Senator Cyrus Locke, Cleveland, today filed his declaration at the secretary of state's office as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator to fill the unexpired portion of the term of the late U. S. Senator Frank B. Willis, extending from Dec. 15, next, to March 4, 1933.

James C. B. Beatty, East Liverpool, filed his declaration as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

State Senator J. Eugene Roberts, Youngstown, today filed his declaration as a candidate for the Republican nomination for attorney general.

FALLS 3 STORIES BUT BABY LIVES

CLEVELAND, June 13.—Despite a three-story fall from a window of his home to a concrete driveway, Lester Goodman, aged 11 months, today was little the worse for the experience.

The child pushed a screen from the window late Tuesday and fell, being picked up unconscious. Physicians, after reviving him, declared there was no apparent injury.

FARMERS TRY TO CRASH HALL

Police Stop Crowd of Anti-Hoover Corn Belters.

CONVENTION HALL, KANSAS CITY, June 13.—An embittered crowd of anti-Hoover farmers made an unsuccessful attempt to "crash" the Republican national convention today at the hour of assembling.

After staging another protest parade against Hoover's nomination the corn belt representatives demanded admittance, and when barred by the police at the door, tried to carry it by storm. A tightly formed cordon of police and hastily summoned sergeants-at-arms barred their progress.

Observers estimated there were about a thousand farmers in the parade.

COUPLE NO. 100 QUIT MARATHON

CHICAGO, June 13.—Couple "number 100," James Pedrow and Lois Henry of Pittsburgh, Pa., dropped out of the national endurance dance contest early today after being on the floor 245 hours and 15 minutes.

Pedrow and Miss Henry will divide third prize of $750. Only two couples remain in the contest. They are Robert Coleman of Richmond, a former mariner, and Serena Bergandi and Walter Grafsky, a reformed Pyle hunter, of St. Paul, and Marcella Meadows of Chicago.

ANTI-HOOVER MEN PLAN NEW ATTACK

KANSAS CITY, June 13.—The anti-Hoover forces counted noses for a new assault upon Hoover domination of the convention today when the credentials committee gathered to write its report.

Under the leadership of Judge Daniel O. Hastings, who holds Senator Coleman of Pennsylvania as a delegate-at-large from Delaware, the 15 minority members of the committee undertook to present a dissenting report to the entire convention, thus paving the way for a test of strength before the nomination balloting.

Under the order of the convention, nothing could be done until the credentials reports were disposed of.

Out-numbered 25 to 15 in the credentials committee, in which the Hooverites quickly took control and confirmed the national committee's decisions in seating the Hoover delegations from the contested southern states, the anti-Hoover men consolidated their forces in the minority report enterprise.

Voice of Farmers

tiring. They were electrified when Butler charged that "cabinet members, senators, representatives, judges and other public officials vote for the prohibition law but violate it every day."

In the midst of the prohibition harangue came the movie say, the farmers. And how?

Farmers Stream Into Hall.

Unheralded, they filed into the hall from a side entrance, seemingly endless streams of them. When the room was packed almost to suffocation, Secretary of Labor Davis, seated on the rostrum, shouted to the sergeant-at-arms to cut off the influx as he had been warned by the building custodians that the floor was in danger of giving way.

"Well all be in the basement soon if any more come in here," he yelled. Still the farmers edged into the room. Most of them carried Lowden banners. Others bore placards reading, for example: "Anybody But Hoover."

"30 million farmers can't be wrong."

"We want a Republican for president."

"Not the Jardine plan, but the McNary-Haugen bill."

Somebody said "There are the farmers."

"No, the farmers are here," shouted the voice and the delegation burst in to cheers.

Five Farmers Speak.

Senator Smoot of Utah, committee chairman was perplexed.

He suggested the committee would allow three farmers' representatives to speak for five minutes each. The upshot was that five spoke and they consumed more than the allotted time.

There was a commotion when Thomas P. C. Honey, New Hampshire Republican chairman, shouted "Mr. Chairman, Mr. Chairman—I object to that banner there saying 'I won't get it here, we're going to Houston. It's an insult. I'd like to be appointed to carry it out.'"

Cries of derision from the farmers. Someone bawled for order. Friends coaxed Cheney to his seat. The banner stuck out like a sore finger throughout the remainder of the proceedings.

A good sized ovation greeted William Settle of the Indiana Farm Bureau, when he attacked President Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen bill.

NOBILE TELLS WRECK STORY

Radioes Italia Fell 1,500 Feet; Trapped Seven Men.

ROME, June 13.—After several hours silence another radio message was received from General Umberto Nobile today for the first time which revealed additional details of the disastrous landing of the dirigible Italia on the ice-floes north of Spitzbergen.

The disaster occurred at 10:30 o'clock on the morning of May 25, Nobile stated. Just a minute or two before that a radio message was received from the Italia and then came silence which was unbroken until operators began to pick up fragmentary messages in the latter part of last week.

The huge airship suddenly grew heavy and crashed to the ground from a height of 1,500 feet in two minutes, Nobile radioed.

The ship's gondola broke up into splinters burying Nobile and six others in the car in the debris. All emerged alive, however, although, two of the members of the crew suffered broken legs. Nearly all the food supplies and other materials which had been taken aboard the ship were saved.

Luckily, the radio apparatus and instruments for determining their position were also saved by the crew, although it was some time before the radio was repaired so that messages could be transmitted.

Those of the crew who were in other parts of the ship drifted with the free gas bag as it soared upward after the crash and landed some distance away.

Nobile's latest message also revealed the identities of the three daring members of the crew who started trekking over the ice seeking aid and for whose safety fears are now held.

Wields Utah Gavel.

Chairman Fess wielded a new gavel today—presented by the Utah delegations. It was made of native Utah copper, and was formidable looking. The hard working reporters directly beneath Fess were hoping it didn't slip out of his hand at any time.

The Roosevelt admirers in the convention were placated today by Senator Fess, "apologizing" to the convention for his accidental omission yesterday in his keynote speech of the name of Theodore Roosevelt, along with the other distinguished Republican presidents.

Fess explained that the prepared copy of his address bore a tribute to "T. R." but that in the confusion and lights and heat he neglected to read it. He compensated by paying a laudatory tribute to the late Progressive leader and the convention stood and cheered.

This concluded, the chairman called for the report of the committee on credentials. It wasn't ready, but it was reported enroute. The credentials committee had several acrimonious contests to settle which didn't lend themselves to easy settlement.

During the interim of waiting, Fess put the band to work.

Block McNary-Haugen Speech.

During the wait for the credentials committee, the outlook became more gloomy for the leaders hopes of winding up the convention by tomorrow night. Word came to the platform from the resolutions committee that "there was very little chance of completing its work before tomorrow."

During the lull, P. D. Norton, a North Dakota delegate, asked the chair if it were in order for someone to while away the time by addressing the convention. He suggested that Senator McMaster, Republican of South Dakota, be allowed to speak from the rostrum.

McMaster is one of the leaders of the farm bloc, and is anything but friendly to Hoover as a presidential candidate.

Fess told him it wasn't in order, but the North Dakotan persisted in trying to regain his attention above the din of the band and the babel of voices.

"We shouldn't be wasting time," said Norton. "Why can't we have some speaking. Surely this convention isn't afraid to listen to a Republican senator."

Fess shut off any further requests by retiring to the back of the stage and engaging in conversation with William M. Butler.

There didn't seem much chance of a McNary-Haugen speech in this convention.

Mrs. Wildebrandt Delays Convention.

The anti-Hoover delegates from Texas, who were denied seats in the convention in favor of the pro-Hoover delegates led by National Committee chairman R. B. Creager, didn't take as long to draft their minority report as did Mabel Walker Wildebrandt, chairman of the credentials committee, to draft her majority report.

It was on the floor of the convention while Mrs. Wildebrandt was still struggling and holding up the convention.

The dissenting Texans found 15 members of the credentials committee to agree with them as against the 34 supporting the majority report. The minority singers, which included a proxy from Senator Coleman DuPont, of Delaware, came from Indiana, Missouri, Illinois, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, South Carolina, New York, Connecticut, North Carolina, Wisconsin, West Virginia, Kansas and Alaska—all of which is anti-Hoover territory.

Finally, at 11:45 o'clock, Mrs. Wildebrandt came rushing into the hall. She had held up the convention for more than an hour. Senator Fess rapped vigorously for order and then presented the assistant Attorney general.

IND. NAPOLIS, Ind., June 13.—Earl Klinek, former henchman of D. C. Stephenson, was sentenced to serve one to three years in the state prison and was fined $100 and costs by Special Judge Thomas E. Garvin in Marion criminal court here today.

Klinek was convicted late yesterday by a jury of forging the name of William Rogers to an affidavit purporting to retract the testimony of Rogers given before Senator James A. Reed's slush fund committee in St. Louis in 1925 that United States Senator James E. Watson carried an "imperial passport" issued by the Ku Klux Klan.

COOLIDGE PARTY ENTRAINS TODAY

10 inches in diameter and over, which have a reduced carrying capacity; that those with a pressure of less than 250 pounds be taken out of service; installation of additional fire alarm boxes in high value districts; adoption and enforcement of building and electric codes for new construction work; legislation governing manufacture, sale and transportation of explosives; construction of larger water mains in many districts and the establishment of additional fire hydrants in mercantile and manufacturing districts; erection of down town and East End station houses.

"No promise was made before the one-mill tax levy was submitted at the general election last fall that fire insurance rates would be reduced as soon as new firemen were placed on duty," insurance dealers said. "However it was explained that the employment of 15 additional firemen would meet one of the many requirements."

Study Underwriters' Report.

Up until last August East Liverpool had a rating of class three and one-half with regard to fire protection. After the survey was completed the rating was increased to four and one-half with the intimation of dropping into a lower class if steps were not taken immediately to improve the fire fighting facilities.

The Chamber of Commerce began a study of the underwriters' report soon after it was received. Through the efforts of a committee from that organization council was prevailed upon to submit the one-mill tax levy to employ additional firemen.

The committee is now working on a building code which council will be asked to adopt at an early date in order to comply with another of the recommendations.

All of the equipment in the downtown station answers calls in the business section, safety department officials claim. During the last year a new truck has been placed in service at the North side station.

SEE NO FARM BOLT AT POLLS IN NOVEMBER

Hoover Generals Call Leaders Professional Agitators.

FARMERS PARADE

Claim Movement Never Had Sympathy of Agrarians.

By William S. Neal.

KANSAS CITY, June 13.—Hoover campaign managers have no fear of a farm bolt at the polls in November.

Completely ignoring the riotous protests of 5,000 farmers parading the streets and holding countless protest meetings, the Hoover generals attacked the farm organization leaders as professional agitators.

At the same time some regular Republicans who deserted the administration to fight the McNary-Haugen bill were trying to quench the first of revolt which they helped to ignite.

"It was expected that this movement would fail," said James W. Good, Hoover generalissimo, "it did not originate with farmers but with those

Deadlock Continues
On Riverside Paving

Four to Three Lineup Means End, Temporarily, of Legislation; Adherents of 30-foot 20-foot Plans, Stand Pat.

With the Wellsville councilmanic deadlock continuing with no hope for a break in either direction, Riverside avenue paving legislation apparently has died a natural death. Four solons last night maintained their stand for a 30-foot street; three others held out for 24; as a result, legislative action either way is impossible in view of the fact that a three-fourths vote is required to proceed.

Last night's meeting was an adjourned session, scheduled for any business in general but the paving proposition in particular.

Prior to the gathering, solons and city officials, along with City Engineer R. D. McGill, inspected Riverside avenue.

Determining ordinance for a 30-foot street was presented. And this was followed by the presentation of a petition by Keay, sponsored by Keay and Lowary, containing the signatures of 24 property owners, representing a frontage of 1,104 feet on Riverside avenue, or approximately a quarter of the total frontage, including both sides.

Presenting the petition, Keay said that he and Lowary had interviewed property owners to determine what they wanted. He said 24 had come out for a 24-foot street; three for a 30-foot street and that probably a half dozen, who refused to sign petitions, expressed themselves as agreeable to either plan.

Nicholson, declaring there was little use discussing the matter over and over, asked for a vote and so Clerk Hardman formally read the ordinance.

Peters moved for its passage under suspended rules.

President Baker then asked if anyone in the audience, which included probably a dozen property owners on Riverside avenue, desired to say anything. D. N. MacLean was the only speaker. He made recommendations as to the curb line and explained he would like to preserve four large trees in front of his property.

The roll was called and brought a 4 to 3 vote, as follows: Ayes—Peters, Haugh, Swearingen and Nicholson; nays—Lowary, Keay and Reil.

Lowary and Keay then suggested action on a 24-foot proposal, but nothing was done in view of the fact that four votes opposed the lesser width. Solicitor Knepper then advised council to place the ordinance on first reading in order that it could "pass out" legally. The former vote merely was on a motion to suspend the rules. So solons voted again on the measure, on first reading, and that ended the Riverside avenue paving, for the time being, at least.

CAR CO. WILL HELP

Traction Officials Seek Building of Outlet.

Possibility of a new storm sewer to take care of drainage in the Seventeenth and Commerce street district in Wellsville looms as a result of council's action last night, authorizing the preparation of legislation for introduction next week.

Nicholson reported details of the council committee's recent conference with the street car company which would be benefited by the improvement.

In a letter from the car company, read to solons last night, traction officials pledged aid to the proposal in the event the improvement is started immediately.

Nicholson repeated his statements of former meetings, pointing out that inadequate drainage conditions had cost property owners in the district affected thousands of dollars; and, he warned, may yet cost the city a lot of money in damage suits.

He agreed with Mayor W. L. Fogo in the opinion that inasmuch as the city is fully cognizant of conditions there, it may be held liable in possible damage suits in the future.

ROTARIANS HOLD
INITIAL MEET

Senator Earl E. Lewis of St. Clairsville, last night addressed members of the Wellsville Rotary club at a dinner in the Riverview hotel.

The club was but recently organized here and last night's session was its first.

President Frank L. Wells acted as chairman.

CITY CLERK BAGS
"HORNED" TOAD

City Clerk George Hardman last night captured a peculiar species of toad in his back yard.

Deciding that it was a horned toad of the variety that has risen to fame since a member of the family was alleged to have lived in a Texas corner stone for a score or more of years, and fearing that his word might not be of sufficient proof, Hardman caged the visitor and took it to council meeting.

The toad is not of the variety common to this locality. It has a peculiarly shaped head, bearing sharp "horns," and a well defined neck.

Solons inspected the creature minutely, but, there being no experts in this line among them, agreed that it must be a horned toad.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to the many kind neighbors and friends, those who sent flowers and donated the use of their cars. Rev. Hawkins and singers, Moose lodge, Ohio Power Co., and all others who assisted in any way during the illness and death of our husband, brother, father and son, Mr. N. S. Wood. Wellsville City Leaguers Increase First Half Flag Lead

Easton Pitches Motors To Win Over Madisons

D. Mackall Turns in Good Slab Performance for Losers in Relief Role; Adamson Leads Clubbers.

WELLSVILLE city league leaders enhanced their pennant prospects and increased their lead over Turk-Nash by a half game last night as they won from the Madison Billiards, 10 to 2, at Columbian park.

Easton gave the East Enders seven scattered hits, doing his best hurling in the fifth when, with one down and the bases loaded, he fanned Mackall to retire the side.

Wolfe, Billiard's starting pitcher, lasted four frames against the visitors. Driven to the timber in the fourth he gave way to Mackall who wound up the contest with a nice exhibition of pitching. Off Mackall's benders the Motors got but two hits.

Wellsville counted in the opening frame. Adamson was safe on Bailey's error at third, stole second and third and scored on C. Wagner's sacrifice to center.

Two more runners circled the paths in the third. Lintner opened with a single to left but was forced out at second on Easton's rap to Wolfe. Adamson was safe at first and Easton at second on the former's tap in front of the plate. Rager's single scored Easton and Adamson scored as Morris threw out C. Wagner at first.

The fourth was the big inning for the Motors. G. Wagner singled to right to start it. Tolbert sacrificed and Wagner then swiped third. Lintner smacked one for two bags, scoring the runner. Easton's one-base clout scored Lintner. Easton went to second on Adamson's hit to center and the pair then engineered a double steal. Rager's two base smash to center scored both of them and Rager finished on C. Wagner's two-bagger.

The Wellsville club scored its final runs in the fifth. G. Wagner singled past third. Hancock was safe at first on Haugh's error at third and Easton's drive through short chased both Wagner and Hancock homeward.

The Billiards, however refused to be blanked and proceeded to score in the sixth and the seventh. In the sixth Dustman singled to center and stole second. He reached third when Fullerton beat out an infield rap and tallied on Easton's wild pitch.

Davis, in the seventh, beat out an infield hit, stole second, moved on to third on Newman's sacrifice and counted on Mackall's sacrifice fly to G. Wagner in center.

Adamson cracked out three hits for the winners in four trips up. Both second basemen figured greatly in the defensive play of the two clubs. A. Morris for the Billiards, handled seven chances and miscued once. Tolbert, for Wellsville, got away with four without a slip. Rager's timely hitting was also a factor.

Hot Battles Billed in City Loop Tonight

Laughlin at Chester, Turk Nash, Katies Clash.

Fur is expected to fly tonight when Turk-Nash, K. T. K., Laughlin and Chester go into a scramble on two City League lots.

And anything can happen. Wellsville, triumphing Madison Billiards last night, can sit back and watch the two struggles, but the leaders' lofty station is none too secure at that.

The first half drive has less than three weeks to go, exclusive of the 13 play-off games that are on the books. And the pace-setters are just four and one-half games ahead of Laughlin China, in fifth place. Which goes to show they must win a lot of ball games yet in order to run up the championship gonfalon at Nicholson field.

Turk-Nash is paired off tonight with the Katies at Columbian park while Laughlin goes into action at Chester. A baseball game between these two natural rivals is always a battle regardless of whether it's for the pennant or no reason at all.

Turk-Nash is two and a half games out of first place, and is hanging on to second place by an eye-lash, or, rather, a half game over Chester. Naturally the Motors must win tonight in order to keep their position secure.

And, of course, the O'Brosky boys and the rest of the Katies will have something to say about that, however. Johnny Fowler's boys were off form in their game at Laughlin, apparently, and expect to make up for it tonight.

Class AA Leagues Are Showing Customers Some Hot Baseball

Nine Games Between Leaders and Tail Enders in International; Anything Can Happen in Association, Too.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Bucket-heated souls, far from niggardly with other people's property, are suggesting that the New York Yankees distribute largess of player strength among the other seven outfits because they have made a race into a pageant.

But if the American league is looking for condolences, it will find them at the engraver's listed under resolutions, as far as the rest of organized baseball is concerned.

The ideal baseball race, according to a National league president of another era, would be one in which the eight clubs involved would enter the final week deadlocked at .500. If that gentleman were available today, I could show him where he could get a lot of first class "idealizing" neatly and quickly done, while you wait.

Races tighter than the average hand-cuff are the rule rather than the exception this season.

The National league affair, with the first five clubs separated by some five games and only the Braves and Phillies definitely out of consideration, is a natural example. The way that one looks, it will take another

Ford peace ship to get them out of the trenches by Christmas.

Bigger, better and busier races can be had in each of the Class A organizations, the International, the American Association and the Coast league, and the Southern Association, for the asking. The International is one of the best with all eight clubs well beyond the 400 mark and about nine games separating Toronto, the leader, from Baltimore and Jersey City, the two last place clubs.

At last reports, less than five games separated Indianapolis, Toledo, Kansas City, St. Paul, Milwaukee and Minneapolis, running more or less in that order in the American Association. Anything can happen in this league. Only Louisville and Columbus are well off the pace.

The Southern Association can do even better, with Little Rock and Atlanta playing 400 baseball at the foot of the column, Chattanooga just a jump ahead of them and Birmingham, Memphis, and New Orleans grouped within five games at the pace. Mobile and Nashville are far from out of the race too.

The Coast league is staging a two-club heat for first place between San Francisco and Hollywood, with Sacramento only about five games back and Los Angeles and the Missions fighting like a bride and groom for first division ranking.

AT NEW YORK—Stanislaus Loayza, Chilean lightweight, outpointed Joe Gluck, Brooklyn, 10 rounds.

Shower Of Base Hits Swamp Hurlers In National Loop Race

Fine Field is Expected In Buckeye Title Event

Staunch Defense Anticipated From Denny Shute, Champ; Deibel Estimates Qualifying Mark at 160.

YOUNGSTOWN, June 13.—Thirty years of golf history have been written into mid-western records by the Youngstown Country club.

And when the best amateurs of the state of Ohio tee in their annual championship on June 25, they'll be battling a par that has tested the shots of the world's best players—Vardon, Ray, Hagen, Smith and scores of others.

Noted not only for the challenge of its holes but also for the marvelous quality of its fairways and greens supervised by John Morley, Youngstown, leaves nothing to desire in the way of a golf test.

Methodical Mac Smith, with his perfect sweeping stroke, was the last to win a big championship over Youngstown's turf. That was in 1925, when the Carnoustie wizard finished up three, three, three, to take the Western open championship. His total was a record 281, six shots ahead of the field.

Two Eighties Should Make It. Deibel, president of the Ohio Golf Association and for years Youngstown's leading amateur, estimates that it will take a 36-hole round of 160 to qualify in the state tournament. No doubt in this he is a bit generous to his home course, for the 164's made the grade last June at Miami Valley and the 167's the year before at Westwood. Like in any other tournament, the scores have a habit of scoring when the Buckeye golfers get together.

There will be a fine field at Youngstown, particularly if Denny Shute defends his title, which he probably will. Denny, now living at Columbus, ran away from the pack last summer at Dayton, being the medalist, the champion, and the week's sensation. What little glory he left for others went to Singular Dean of Lima, the runner-up, who undoubtedly is one of Ohio's coming amateurs.

Almost thirty years ago, in the fall of 1898, the Youngstown Country club came into existence. Golf at that time was a new and fascinating diversion. Cleveland had only one course, nine holes at Country club, and there were only a few links in the midwest.

Club Buys New Land. The early Youngstown course was situated near the city, but in 1912 the press of development sent the golfers further out, and the site of the present course was purchased. Recently fire wiped out the center of the club house, built some fifteen years ago, but already a new and finer structure is being designed. Fortunately the locker room was not disturbed, and thus the conflagration did not prevent Youngstown from handling the state event as scheduled. The club has had several profes-

Above are views of the Youngstown Country club course where Ohio state amateurs will battle for the yearly championship, beginning June 25. C. W. Deibel, president of the Ohio State Golf Association, estimates that the Buckeye amateurs will need a pair of 80's on the 36-hole route to qualify on his home course.

Insets show W. C. Reilly, president of the Youngstown Country club; Deibel; Albert Alcroft, pro; and Miss Louise Fordyce, Youngstown golfer who has been an outstanding figure in women's tournaments in various parts of the country.

Four Winners Slam Out 74 Bingles; Bucs Get 25

American Does a Little S lugging, Too; Gehrig Has Two Homers, Two Triples; Babe Ruth Raps Out No. 23.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Base hits are rattling off the bats of National league sluggers with machine-gun rapidity and the offerings of pitching stars are being pelted to all corners of the lot as the pennant race waxes hotter daily. Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Brooklyn and New York, the four teams which won yesterday, slammed out 74 hits and scored 47 runs.

Pittsburgh collected 25 bingles, sweeping the Phillies, 15 to 4. Fitcher Ray Kremer made four hits and held the Phils to five.

By Les Conklin. Cincinnati's lead over St. Louis was cut to less than one game when the Reds took a 10 to 1 lacing from the Giants while the Cardinals beat Boston. The Giants scored six runs on seven hits in the second inning when they kayaked Pete Donohue and stole Cincinnati's thunder by making four double plays.

Jim Bottomley walloped two homers and led the Cardinals to a 9 to 6 victory over the Braves for their tenth triumph in 13 games on the road.

Del Bissonette enjoyed a perfect day at bat with four hits, including a homer, as Brooklyn plastered the Cubs, 13 to 1. It was the Robins first victory over Chicago this season.

Buster Lou Gehrig of the Yankees almost set a record by clouting his 14th and 15th homers and four triples, a total of 14 bases, in four times at bat. Babe Ruth collected homer No. 23 and the Yanks ended their alleged slump by smothering the White Sox, 15 to 7. Combs and Collins also hit four baggers.

With Sam Jones on the mound, the Washington Senators continued their winning streak by noshing out Cleveland, 3 to 2, on Reeves' triple in the ninth. The Nats grabbed fifth place from Detroit.

The Tigers lost to the Athletics, 3 to 2. A single by Fox broke up a mound duel between Owain Carroll and Howard Ehmke.

Ed Morris pitched the Red Sox to a 5 to 2 win over the Browns.

Ray Buzzard With Akron in Central League

Leaves Mid Atlantic Loop to Join Tires.

Raymond Buzzard, East Liverpool, who recently left the Fairmont club of the Mid-Atlantic league, today went to Akron where he will join the Rubber City entry in the Central circuit.

Buzzard was with the Fairmonters all last year. The local lad was ranked as one of the finest defensive outfielders in the Mid-Atlantic but for some reason or other could not get out of a batting slump. With a change of atmosphere he is determined to go out and get his share of base hits from now on.

MIDLAND SOFT BALL

D. Jones won a pitchers' battle from Kennedy of the Time and Supply last night, 6 to 1. Hamsher drove in the Timers' only run when he batted for Thomas in the eighth.

Macks went on a rampage in the eighth, scoring five runs. Both teams played hard, fast ball for seven innings with the Macks knocking off two opposition runners in plays at the plate. Deem and Mitchell of the Macks and Dray and Winters of the Timers had a pair of bingles apiece.

Narrative of Love and Struggle Against Temptations

By WINIFRED VAN DUZER

CHAPTER 29.

Frequently now when Kitten walked down the River Road to meet Ted Lanier, she took Dottie and Flossie Gaines along and two of his friends were with him in the car.

It was not often, really, that they went on these motor parties. Ted made vague excuses about not being able to use the car and Kitten concluded that, as a guest in the Norris home, he had to suit his time to the convenience of the family.

Still they had been meeting once a week or so. The three little girls, so nearly of a size, so much of a type, would start out with their heads close, the black, the brown, the red.

Dancing along, giggling, turning quick, furtive glances toward every machine that passed.

Then the long car would saunter by, glide to the curb, stand with the engine throbbing while they fluttered and giggled again.

Kitten would climb to the front seat beside Ted and the other girls would crowd in with the boys behind, all of them sitting very close.

Then they would go into the country and stop perhaps at some roadside.

Kitten's joy in this was marred by Ted's attitude. Not only did he refuse to buy her the occasional cocktail which made the other girls so merry, but once when she lighted a cigarette he snatched it out of her hand and threw it away.

"Be yourself, Red-head. What's the use trying to act tough. You're too good for it."

"Who did you boss last year, fella? I'll do whatever I damn please!"

His hand closed on her wrist and held with a grip that left it tender for days. "That bar-room talk don't go, my girl. All set-out?" Then, with a softening of the young face, "Ah, Kitten, be nice, won't you? You're too sweet for that stuff. Why say, I've never seen anything as pretty as you."

She would pout but her eyes were ashamed. Arrogant as she was, this boy had the ability to make her feel cheap. She gave up trying to smoke and her drinking was limited to a few sips from the glasses of the other girls.

But she defied him in the matter of Flossie Gaines. "Why don't you ditch that one, Kitten? She's not your sort."

"I'll choose my own friends, Mr. Ted Lanier. And if you don't like Flossie you can get someone besides me to go riding with."

He had to be content with that.

So Flossie continued to make one of the party and it was through acting upon her lawless suggestions that they many times came very near to disaster.

It was Flossie who first thought of going for a moonlight ride up the St. John mountains, a wild stretch of hills across the valley from the Ramapos. And even this escapade might have pulled through excepting for the pocket glasses.

Kitten was eager to go. But there was no use asking permission at home. Ryan Muz would question this. And when she did enquire, tentatively, if she might spend the night with Dottie, Emily raised such fierce objections that Arnes backed her up.

But there was the window above the kitchen roof and the grape trolleys.

Kitten went to bed with her clothes on and waited until the house was still. Then she crept over the sill lightly, softly as a little ghost, and raced for the corner where the others waited.

Ted was rather stiff she thought; not nearly so delighted with the prospect of a party as she had expected him to be.

"You oughtn't do this, Kitten. Isn't what a nice girl would do, come sneaking out?"

But intoxicating little shivers of anticipation were going over her; she cuddled against his arm with a gay, teasing air and asked who wanted to be nice.

"You do. Don't know? maybe, but you do. Besides I want you to be."

"Ole crab! S'pose you think I like you snappy, that way, ole crab?"

He bent his head so the dash-light shone up against his face and she saw that his eyes were grave. "Yes, I do think you like me. And I like you. That's why I want to take care of you. Why not let me come and meet your folks, Kitten?"

She wouldn't have that. Her whole instinct was to keep her affairs to herself and away from Em and Muz.

The flask had been circulating in the back seat and the four there were shouting and laughing. Ted refused it when they tried to draw him in.

"That stuff don't mix with gas. Besides someone's got to stay sober on these roads."

"All the more for us 'ten, Teddy." And they started to sing in high voices, far off the key.

The car was stopped finally, at a little deserted summer camp and they got out, Dottie clinging to one of the boys and Flossie staggering a bit.

They were high up in the hills, gaunt peaks rearing in every direction, white moonlight silencing scrub pine and a noisy little mountain stream, touching everything with weird beauty.

But they cared nothing for this. They broke into the big hall of the camp-house and tried to dance, tumbling at every turn.

"You see, Kitten?" Ted asked in a disgusted voice. "And they think they're having fun!"

"Oh," angrily, "I s'pose you've never been drunk in your life!"

"Certainly I have. I'm no angel. But not with a girl like you Kitten."

She jerked away and went outside. Spoil party! Setting himself up to boss her—she'd show him!

Yet as the noise grew louder in the camp-house and Flossie's voice rose in shriek after shriek, she became a little frightened. This wasn't exactly the sort of fun she had looked for when they planned the ride. She wondered all at once what would happen if Emily should go into her room, as she sometimes did, and find her gone.

So she offered no objection when Ted came from somewhere and led her to the car.

"Getting too wild. Sorry to kill it but you ought to be home. Anything can happen when such dumb-bells get lit."

He had more trouble getting the others to go. But they were quiet enough, all of them asleep in fact, when they drew into Lya!

Kitten came home from the back way again, climbing through brush and locusts down the hill. And a task it was, too, for she practically had to carry Dottie.

"Gosh, Kit, don't wanna go home. Wanna go joy-riding."

"Shut up, sap. And you better figure out how you're going to get in. Must be two o'clock all righty."

"Don't wanna get in. Wanna go joy-riding!"

Kitten left her fumbling at the door and sneaked through the hedge. It took her less than a minute to scurry up the trellis, step out of her clothes and get into bed.

She was drowsing when a glow in the mirror of her dresser brought her eyes wide. Raising her head she could see the Brent house. Every window was alight.

"Oh Lord," she whispered, "that dumb-bell's got 'em up. Means trouble for somebody—it sure does!"

CHAPTER 30.

Kitten went about sweetly in the morning with little offers of help.

"I'll do the dishes, Em. Don't bother. Listen; want me to press your dress for tonight? Might as well."

"Why, that's nice of you, Kitten. It would save time."

"Sure. Anything else?"

Emily looked at her sister's downcast face, grown suddenly demure, and thought it a little pale. And Kitten offering to help, actually rinsing the dishes and stacking them away!

"Don't you feel well, dear?"

"Gosh! Guess you don't have to ask that the minute I want to do something around here. Guess you don't have to be sarcastic, Em Day."

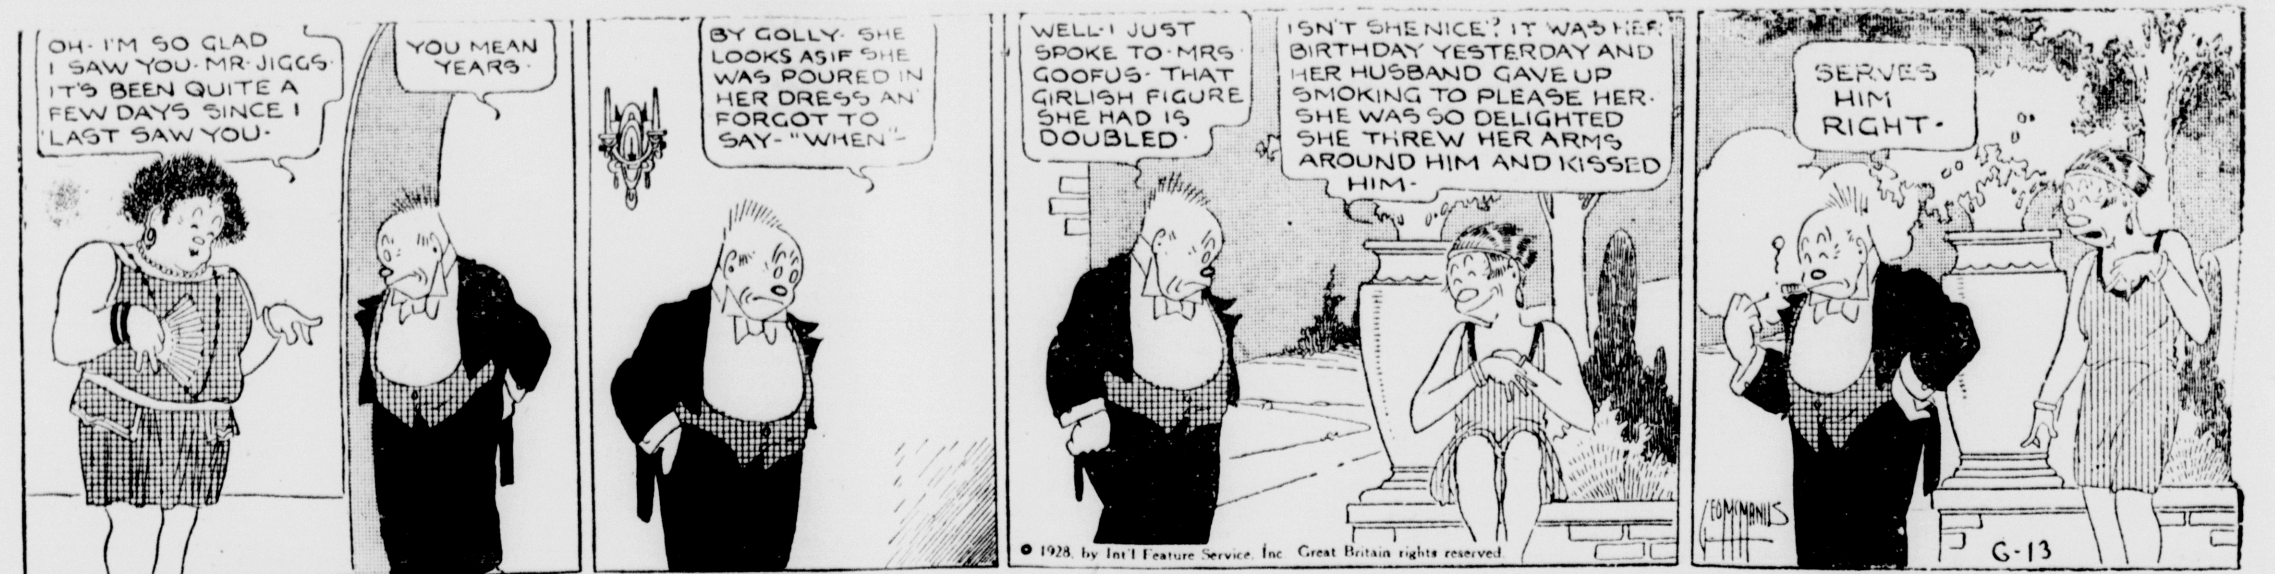

"Of course I didn't mean to seem sarcastic, Kitten. cat. It's sweet of you to help."

PATRIOTIC TUNE AVERTS CLASH

KANSAS CITY, June 13.—Strains of "The Star Spangled Banner" averted a possible clash when 500 farmers invaded a Hoover mass meeting in Shrine temple late last night.

Interrupting the speech of Representative John Cooper of Youngstown, Ohio, the farmers stood in the aisles shouting: "We won't vote for Hoover."

A quick witted bandmaster struck up the patriotic tune. The farmers doffed their hats, stood at attention and then left.

Smith, New York, for president and Governor Vic Donahey, Ohio, for vice president at the Democratic national convention this month at Houston, Texas, was not available here today.

Interest in these rumors was increased by the announcement yesterday of the scheduled conference between Donahey and Morris S. Tremaine, Albany, N. Y., state comptroller of New York and head of the state department of audit and control.

After the conference, which was held late yesterday and which lasted more than a half-hour behind closed doors, both Governor Donahey and Tremaine told newspaper men that the vice-presidential situation was not mentioned at the conference.

Politics was referred to only briefly and in a casual manner, Donahey and Tremaine said.

Tremaine explained that he came to Columbus on a business trip, that Governor Smith did not know Tremaine was coming to Ohio, and that he merely called upon Governor Donahey to pay his respects.

On several occasions Governor Donahey asserted that he was not a candidate for either the presidential or vice presidential nomination. He said, however, that if nominated for either office, he would accept.
